

The August Indexer

27–29 August 1999
Hobart, Tasmania

Table of contents

Papers

- Freelance indexing, by Glenda Browne
- Journal indexing: some issues and maybe some answers, by Max McMaster
- Conference reports, by Clodagh Jones, Barbara Malpass Edwards and Jenny Restarick

Proceedings

The papers from the 1999 conference were published as proceedings. The book is available in various state and university libraries around Australia. You can find the locations here, in Trove: <http://trove.nla.gov.au/version/43734194>

Findlay, Margaret (editor), The August Indexer: Proceedings from the Second International Conference of the Australian Society of Indexers, Hobart, 27–29 August 1999, Melbourne: Australian Society of Indexers, 2000.

Contents of Proceedings

- Keynote address: Withering, by Robyn Colman
- Conference Dinner address, by Roy Harden Jones
- Adding value to Australian bibliographic databases, by Penny Braybrook
- Freelance indexing, by Glenda Browne
- Problems of the ‘passing mention’, by Simon Cauchi
- The mysteries of fiction indexing, by Mary Ann Chulik presented by David Ream
- Is there an Australian publishing industry?, by John Collins
- Is Classification needed to supplement subject indexing in metadata for a web gateway?, by Prue Deacon
- Australian Education Index – today’s uses and challenges, by Margaret Findlay
- Indexing journals: the journal of Annie Baxter Dawbin, by Clodagh Jones
- The author as indexer, by Anthony Large
- Secondary indexing: the specifics of managing revisions, cumulations and spin-offs, by Frances S Lennie
- Let’s do something about it: Tasmanian women writers/publishers, by Robyn Mathison
- Journal indexing: some issues and maybe some answers, by Max McMaster
- Medical indexing as a speciality, by Alexandra Nickerson
- The Australian Tourism Index: where to from here?, by Jane Odgers

- Indexing and the editing process, by Ann M Philpott
- Related skills — indexing and bibliography, by John E Simkin
- Boiling the ocean: Tasmania Online's experience in indexing the World Wide Web, by Lloyd Sokvitne
- Cross-cultural terminologies: politics enters indexing, by Geraldine Triffitt
- Indexing for school archives: magazine and historical records, by Alan Walker