Call for nominations: ANZSI Indexing Award and John Simkin Medal 2021

ANZSI invites publishers, booksellers, editors, librarians, indexers and interested persons to provide nominations for the John Simkin Medal 2021. Indexers are encouraged to submit their own work. The Medal award recognises an outstanding index to a book or periodical compiled in Australia or New Zealand. 'Highly Commended' certificates may also be awarded to excellent indexes.

ANZSI Indexing Awards were instituted in 1985. The highest award, previously known as the ANZSI Medal, has since 2014 been named in honour of John Simkin, one of the founding members of the Society. John promoted the ideals of indexes and indexing throughout his 40-year association with the Society, and the Medal acknowledges his contribution to indexing. Many Highly Commended certificates have also been awarded.

Eligibility of index

To be eligible for the 2021 awards, the book or periodical index must be commercially available and have an imprint date of 2017 or later. The index must have been compiled in Australia or New Zealand, although the text to which it refers may have been published elsewhere.

To attain the Medal an index must be of the highest calibre. The index must be entirely the indexer's own work. The index should be substantial in size, the subject matter complex, and the language, form and structure should demonstrate the indexer's expertise in serving the primary needs of the text and the reader. There are no restrictions on the subject matter indexed. The book/publication may be in paper or digital format.
